

Single fare tickets "there" and "there and back"

The passenger entitled for a statutory reduction who wishes to purchase a return ticket:

- 1) using the same route - issued is a "there and back" ticket which price is equal to the doubled price for a single fare one way ticket,
- 2) by different routes - issued is a separate "there" ticket and a separate "back" ticket.

The "there and back" ticket loses its validity for the "there" connection - if first the "back" journey was realized, unless the passenger has obtained proof of not having realized the "there" journey.

The passenger not entitled for a statutory reduction who wishes to purchase a return ticket:

- 1) using the same route - is issued:
  - a) two separate tickets in case the "back" journey is realized at a different date than the "there" journey:
    - "there" at normal price,
    - "back" with a 15% discount, however the "back" ticket is only valid with the "there" ticket,
  - b) a single ticket "there and back", where the price for the said ticket is the sum of the price of the "there" journey at full price and "back" journey with 15% discount however this ticket sale is valid for passengers who intend to realize the "back"

journey beyond the validity period of the return ticket by one or four days;

2) by different routes - issued is a separate "there" ticket and a separate "back" ticket, according to normal price of the two planned journeys.
