

This map illustrates the extensive railway network of the Mazovian Voivodeship, centered around Warsaw. The network is composed of numerous lines radiating from the capital, connecting it to major cities and towns across the region. Key features include:

- Major Lines: Lines connecting Warsaw to Łódź, Poznań, Toruń, Białystok, Lublin, and the Świętokrzyskie Voivodeship.
- Warsaw Hub: A dense network of lines within the capital, including the Warszawa Zachodnia, Warszawa Wschodnia, Warszawa Śródmieście, and Warszawa Centralna stations.
- Regional Centers: Lines connecting to cities like Radom, Ostrołęka, Płock, and Skierniewice.
- Geographical Features: The Vistula River (Wisła) is shown flowing through the region, and the Mazovian Lake District (Mazowiecki Park Narodowy) is indicated.
- Neighboring Regions: Arrows point to the borders with Łódź, Poznań, Toruń, Białystok, Lublin, and the Świętokrzyskie Voivodeship.

The map provides a comprehensive overview of the railway infrastructure, highlighting the central role of Warsaw in the Mazovian Voivodeship's transportation network.